DETAILED ACTION

The preliminary Amendment received 06/06/2005 has been acknowledged.

Information Disclosure Statement

The listing of references in the specification is not a proper information disclosure statement. 37 CFR 1.98(b) requires a list of all patents, publications, or other information submitted for consideration by the Office, and MPEP § 609.04(a) states, "the list may not be incorporated into the specification but must be submitted in a separate paper." Therefore, unless the references have been cited by the examiner on form PTO-892, they have not been considered.

Drawings

Figures 5-7 should be designated by a legend such as --Prior Art-- because only that which is old is illustrated. See MPEP § 608.02(g). Corrected drawings in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Figures 1A-1C, 3A-3C and 4A-B should not contain any brief description of the drawings such as "top/bottom view, tail view, etc....", Applicant is advised to put these brief descriptions in the brief description of drawings in the specification.

Also, it is noted that figure 4C is not existed in the instant application (acknowledge of letter received 03/15/04), however, Applicant must submit a substitute specification for the brief description of drawings to not include figure 4C.

Specification

The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed.

Applicant is reminded of the proper content of an abstract of the disclosure.

A patent abstract is a concise statement of the technical disclosure of the patent and should include that which is new in the art to which the invention pertains. If the patent is of a basic nature, the entire technical disclosure may be new in the art, and the abstract should be directed to the entire disclosure. If the patent is in the nature of an improvement in an old apparatus, process, product, or composition, the abstract should include the technical disclosure of the improvement. In certain patents, particularly those for compounds and compositions, wherein the process for making and/or the use thereof are not obvious, the abstract should set forth a process for making and/or use thereof. If the new technical disclosure involves modifications or alternatives, the abstract should mention by way of example the preferred modification or alternative.

The abstract should not refer to purported merits or speculative applications of the invention and should not compare the invention with the prior art.

Where applicable, the abstract should include the following:

- (1) if a machine or apparatus, its organization and operation;
- (2) if an article, its method of making;
- (3) if a chemical compound, its identity and use;
- (4) if a mixture, its ingredients;
- (5) if a process, the steps.

Extensive mechanical and design details of apparatus should not be given.

Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 1-4 contain the trademark/trade name Nappy Locs Tool. Where a trademark or trade name is used in a claim as a limitation to identify or describe a particular material or product, the claim does not comply with the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph. See Ex parte Simpson, 218 USPQ 1020 (Bd. App. 1982). The claim scope is uncertain since the trademark or trade name cannot be used to identify a source of goods, and not the goods themselves. Thus, a trademark or trade name does not identify or describe the goods associated with the trademark or trade name.

Claim 1 recites the limitation "said pinch portion" in line 4. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim 3 recites the limitation "said pinched portion terminal end" in line 1. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim 4 recites the limitation "said tail portion terminal end" in line 1. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim 2 recites the limitation "said needle" in line 1. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

Claims 1 and 3-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Tsujioka (Japanese Pat. # 406284922A).

With regard to claim 1, Tsujioka discloses a hair device (fig. 8) comprising a needle shaft (3) having a first and second ends, said first end defining a tail (3a), an oval bulb (7a) proximate to said second end beginning at an end of the tail portion and ending at a beginning of a pinch portion (7a), said pinch portion for retaining section of hair being adjacent to the bulb portion and being defined by an opening reduced in width relative to the bulb portion (fig. 8). In regard to claims 3 and 4, a terminal end of said pinch portion being round (fig. 8) and a terminal end of said tail portion being pointed (fig. 8).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

- (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Tsujioka.

With regard to claim 2, Tsujioka discloses a hair device comprising all the claimed limitations in claim 1 as discussed above except for the material of the needle being made of metallic. It would have been obvious to one having an ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to employ the metallic material, since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Caranicas, Skinner are cited to show the state of the art with respect to a hairpin, hairclip with an oval bulb portion in associating with a pinch portion with a reduced opening. Singleton, Armstrong and Stimson are cited to show the state of the art with respect to a needle having an oval opening.
